NATIONS TO SIGN TREATY ON MONDAY

Elaborate Ceremonies Planned by French for Kellogg

Paris, Aug. 24—(AP)—Secretary of State Kellogg arrived in Paris today to participate in the signing of the historic treaty on Monday. He was accompanied by Premier MacKenzie King of Canada who made the voyage to France aboard the Ile de France which landed at Havre this morning.

With the arrival of the American Secretary of State, plans for the historic ceremonies on Monday got into full swing. The representatives of the fifteen states which will sign the treaty are steadily arriving and numerous welcomes were the order of the day. Peace enthusiasts, women's rights proponents and specialists in international political speculation were busy all day.

Guard Against Violence
Mr. Kellogg reached Paris three-quarters of an hour before the announced time as a police precaution to avoid any possible hostile demonstration by communists and other extremists in remembrance of Sacco and Vanzetti, or on general principles.

Although most of the attention naturally centered upon Secretary Kellogg, Count Uchida of Japan, was the first to arrive in Paris for the signing, reaching here at dawn.

Various world feminists have gathered in Paris in an effort to get an hour's conference with the various statesmen in their fight for equal rights. The French have said that they are willing if Mr. Kellogg and the others are agreeable, but that is as far as matters have gone.

At American Embassy
Secretary Kellogg meantime is remaining quietly at the American embassy. He and Mrs. Kellogg, after being "moved" in the garden, had breakfast, having had nothing since coffee and toast on shipboard at 6:00 A. M. The only official duties arranged for this afternoon was the Secretary's call on Foreign Minister Briand and the latter's call in return.

Premier Poincare sent word that he would be free to receive Secretary Kellogg at any time on Sunday and the Secretary of State has appointed five o'clock for his call upon the Prime Minister which will be in the reception rooms of the Ministry of Finance in the Louvre. The Kellows will have their lunches and dinners at the embassy with the Herick family quite informally.

Paris, Aug. 24—(AP)—Representatives of leading powers will sign a treaty Monday, by which they agree to renounce war as an instrument of national policy.

The treaty, formulated by Foreign Minister Briand of France and Secretary of State Kellogg of the United States, is designed to prevent aggressive warfare. It will be signed in behalf of the United States, France, Germany, Great Britain and her dominions, Italy, Belgium, Japan, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Once the representatives of these nations have put their signature to the document, it will be open for the signature of all other countries that wish to join in the movement.

Mr. Kellogg will sign for the United States, Lord Cushenden, acting head of the British Foreign Office, for Britain, Foreign Minister Stresemann for Germany, Count Uchira for Japan and M. Briand for France.

Elaborate Ceremonies.
French hosts are leaving nothing undone to mark the solemnity of the occasion and welcome the signers of the treaty in a style befitting the country's traditional hospitality.

The distinguished visitors will be swamped with kindness, none the less sincere if mainly formal, should the program of official social festivities be carried out as planned. But since Mr. Kellogg is considered the outstanding figure in the ceremonies the final details of the program will not be settled until there has been an opportunity to consult his wishes.

Want Kellogg to Speak
It is hoped that the American statesman will consent to speak at the signature ceremonies, associating himself if only by a few words with the speech in which M. Briand will open the event.

The inkstand in which Mr. Kellogg will dip the pen provided by the city of Havre, is that used by Vergennes in signing the first Franco-American pact 150 years ago.

COOLIDGE WILL START EAST ON SEPTEMBER 11TH

A Few Days In Washington And Then To New England

Superior, Wis., August 24—(AP)—President Coolidge's special train left here today for Lewis, Wis., where the chief executive will be taken on a fishing trip by Charles E. Lewis of Minneapolis.

Members of the party included Mrs. Coolidge, John Coolidge, Col. Osmun Lathrop and Co. James F. Coupal. The trip was to consume two and a half hours.

Superior, Wis., Aug. 24—(AP)—President Coolidge will leave Cedar Island Lodge for the east on Sept. 11 or the evening of the tenth, according to reliable information today.

Instead of going directly to New England, as first reported, it was said the President would probably spend a few days at Washington before heading north.

The public schools of Superior are scheduled to open Sept. 4, but Mr. Coolidge was informed that would be postponed until he wished to leave, permitting him to retain his executive offices in the high school. Not wishing to inconvenience the schools unnecessarily, it was believed the chief executive set the date of departure just a week later than the customary opening.

IRISH GIVE A WELCOME FOR TUNNEY

Ex-Champ Worshipped as Hero and Gets Kingly Reception

Dublin, August 24—(AP)—Gene Tunney today was in the land of his ancestors and he was accorded a welcome greater than any king ever has received at the hands of the Irish.

Notwithstanding a typical Irish downpour, thousands of persons waited on the streets to welcome and cheer the ex-champion boxer.

When the steamer from Holyhead arrived at Kingstown nobody was permitted to land until the reception committee, which included John McCormack, the tenor, Major Fitzmaurice, Trans-Atlantic Pilot, and General O'Duffy, Chief of Police, had gone aboard to wish the visitor "good night" and "a hundred thousand welcomes."

Gene landed amidst the strains rendered by a band of pipers, and entered one of a fleet of decorated motorcars displaying the Stars and Stripes and the Irish tricolor.

Despite his expressed hope to be allowed to enter the city quietly, the people insisted upon their hero worship and Tunney's drive to London was a triumphal procession with the greatest of excitement manifest everywhere.

Calls On President
Hardly had Gene entered the hotel when he received an invitation from President Cosgrave to visit him at the government building. Tunney promptly responded and was received cordially by Mr. Cosgrave and his cabinet ministers.

He then was presented to the council of the Gaelic games teams, which gave a banquet in his honor. He will visit the games today and present prizes to the winners Saturday.

In a quiet moment at the end of the day the former boxer confided to friends that he would be "very glad when all this hero worship is over" and he is able to get back to a retired place to escape public notice. It is understood he intends to return to England Sunday, postponing his visit to Mayo, the birthplace of his parents, until his mother arrives in September.

Security for Agriculture
"It gives agriculture," he said, "a security against price manipulation and seasonal gluts of the market by reason of the fact that too much of our crop is marketed during the harvest season."

He said that Governor Smith by personally declaring that he is opposed to the "equalization fee" has placed "himself on the party with the Republicans, also opposed to said principle."

"Governor Smith," he said, "simply promises that the mechanics by which the losses shall be charged against the unity of the commodity is yet to be devised. This is the problem over which we have been working for the past eight years and Gov. Smith now proposes to begin where we began eight years ago in order to help the American farmer."

"The Republican platform goes further—it promises tariff provision by the friends of the protective system. It promises the extension of the system to control every phase of agricultural production. Nor does the Republican platform stop here. It promises a revision of our transportation system to where agriculture will no longer bear an excessive share of our transportation costs."

In Unfriendly Hands
Reviewing the chairmanships in the various committees in congress Mr. Dickinson said: "I want to suggest to the farmers of the middle west that a description of the Republican candidates for the office means a transfer of the control of the legislative machinery either to New York, Tammany office holders or to Democrats representing cotton and sugar states."

"Lastly," many farmers will threaten to vote a protest vote. Just let me suggest that any man or woman voting a vote of protest never lives to see any reward come to him or her by reason of such a vote."

Dickinson stated that "agricultural deflation can be best traced to two principal causes—under the Democratic administration of President Wilson. First—The food control under the administration act, which permitted food prices to be placed below a parity price of other commodities. Second—The deflation policy adopted by the federal reserve board under Democratic control."

SAYS REPUBLICANS OFFER SAFEST FOR AMERICAN FARMERS

Congressman Dickinson Talks On Agriculture At Springfield

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 24—(AP)—Congressman L. J. Dickinson of Iowa stated today in a speech at the Illinois State Fair that the "farm vote should be Republican" and that the Republican party promises more to the farmer "in both its platform, the acceptance speech of its candidate, and in the personnel of its nominee."

"In the Republican platform," he said, "agriculture is recognized and under the pledge of the party candidate, a legislative program, favoring agriculture is formulated in the platform. It is pledged that the market system of today shall be reorganized on sounder and more economic lines and that for surplus control, stabilization corporations shall be organized, farmer owned by which the surpluses of the various crops shall be systematically marketed to prevent price depression."

"A similar pledge is made in the Democratic platform and in addition thereto the Democratic platform recognizes the principle that any losses in the marketing of the surplus shall be charged against the units of the product. A great many pledges will be made by the Democrats that they are in a position under their platform to render greater service to the farmer than the Republicans."

Congressman Dickinson stated that Hoover admits the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill in the establishment of a farm board. He said that Hoover in his acceptance speech of the entire program of the McNary-Haugen bill, with the exception of the financing of the same, the substitution of federal finances for the equalization fee.

LOOT HOWELL HARDWARE OF SMALL ARMS

Store Raided by Bold Thieves—Dement-town Robbery

The stock of small arms at the Howell hardware store on Galena avenue, was almost completely wiped out during the night, when thieves ransacked the store and apparently were very deliberate in their operations. The robbery was discovered at 6:30 this morning when Chris Coffey at the store, opened the place of business and discovered the double doors in the rear standing wide open.

Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber was immediately notified and went to the store to check up on the losses.

Climbed To Roof
The thieves climbed a telephone pole in Commercial alley to the roof and then gained entrance to the second floor by breaking a pane of glass in a window, releasing the lock and opening the store on the first floor.

A show case in the front of the store was cleared of revolvers of many different calibers, the target pistols being sorted out, and only the better weapons taken. The stock of ammunition was also ransacked and boxes of shells were carried back to Mr. Howell's desk where, from all indications, the revolvers were loaded.

Several boxes of ammunition which had been opened were left on the desk and shells were scattered about taken from the stock. None of the cutlery in the same show case which contained the revolvers, was disturbed. Boxes of ammunition were also turned.

Even Strip Show Windows
Several fine revolvers were also on display in the north show window, and these did not escape the attention of the thieves. A heavy glass on the door leading into the show window was broken and all of the revolvers with the exception of the target pistols were removed.

A curtain over the window on Commercial alley at Mr. Howell's desk was drawn and from appearances, the intruders were deliberate in their operations in loading the stolen arms and sorting out ammunition from the stock for each of the weapons. Their exit from the store, appeared to have been equally deliberate. A hack saw was taken from the stock shelves, the heavy bars on the inside of the double doors in the rear of the store removed, and the staple on the lock was sawed off.

To add to the daring of the robbery, both of the big double doors were opened and left in this position as the thieves left. The hack saw was thrown down on the platform, where it was picked up by Mr. Coffey this morning. Workmen who passed through Commercial alley before 6 o'clock discovered the hack saw lying on the platform by an empty nail box and the open doors. It was reported to the police this morning that the doors had opened up morning, but believed that some of the store earlier than is customary.

Mr. Howell estimated his loss at about $300. Ten dollars change was which had been left open.

Rob Public Supply Co.
A second robbery was reported this morning about 6:30 at the offices of the Public Supply Company on Seventh street and Depot avenue in Dementtown, where considerable damage was done, but little property taken. The means employed in entering the office had not been determined on the early morning investigations by the police and the report of the presence of the thieves was not discovered until the office was opened about 6 o'clock.

The attention of the intruders was directed to the safe, which was badly damaged. Insurance papers and records were scattered about on the floor and a heavy sledge hammer and a screw driver were lying in front of the damaged safe. Only the record books and valuable papers were contained in the safe, which (Continued on page 2)

RENEW HOPE OF RESCUE FOR FLIERS

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 24—(AP)—Authoritative reports from South Greenland yesterday that Bert Hassel and Parker Cramer were sighted Sunday morning over the village of Piskenaeset have stirred the utmost optimism among Greenland experts that the American airmen will be found safe.

Daggaard Jensen, director of Greenland trade, told the Associated Press today that a northwest storm undoubtedly had forced the Greater Rockford 200 miles south of Stromfjord which is near Mt. Evans, the goal of the fliers on their 1600 mile hope from Coochran, Ontario. He expressed the opinion that Hassel must have had great difficulty to find a landing place but that he probably found one south of the sand plain near Frederikshaab which is about 60 miles from Piskenaeset.

Weeks To Get Gas.
The nearest gasoline supply is at Soender Stromfjord and it would take several weeks to transport it while the chances of a successful takeoff are considered poor.

Commander Bildsoe, one of the best acquainted with this district expressed the belief that Hassel would prefer to land three or four miles inland where a big ice plain provides a good landing easily discoverable from the air.

Helge Bengsted, another Arctic expert, was doubtful that Hassel would hope to continue should he have landed near Frederikshaab as he could not get gasoline supplies in less than six weeks. He thought that the best course would be for the airmen to take a ship for Copenhagen.

Thinks Plane Damaged.
Lieutenant Schmidt, marine flier, thought that the machine must have been damaged if it made a landing anywhere in the neighborhood of its sighting, but that there was no need to fear for the safety of the men. He thought that it would be impossible for them to take off.

The possibility that it might take several days for the fliers to reach a place from which communication could be established were suggested by Peter Freucher, explorer, who thought that they may have landed by the Ameralik River where a place called Big Plains would afford a good landing.

NEW YORK GETS CALL
New York, August 24—(AP)—Eric Palmer, Jr., of Brooklyn, an amateur radio operator, reported this afternoon that he had just been in communication with a station representing itself as that of the missing plane Greater Rockford. The message he received confirmed the communication intercepted last night at Chicago.

The message as copied by Palmer read: "Hello, old man, we are on an island about fifty miles north of Newfoundland. Our food supply is getting low. Using wind generator for power for transmission. Talked last night with 9CJL Chicago. Please send help. Rockford, EKHAH."

Palmer began his communication with the station at 11:15 a. m. eastern standard time, when he answered its repeated calls of "CQ, CQ, CQ." (The code for calling stations when a message is to be transmitted). Palmer said the station was working on 42.8 meters.

CLAIMS DRY LAW INOPERATIVE IN CERTAIN STATES

Attorney Claims Old Law Was Violated By Ratification

Chicago, August 24—(AP)—The novel contention that the national prohibition law is constitutionally inoperative in the states northwest of the Ohio river, including Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana, was raised today by J. J. McCarthy, an attorney, in pleadings filed in the United States district court seeking the dismissal of an injunction against a saloon.

Mr. McCarthy based his contention on the ordinance of 1787 in which the state of Virginia ceded the territory northwest of the Ohio river to the United States. The ordinance, ratified by the United States provided among other things, trial by jury and the right of the citizens of the territory to ratify new laws in conflict with the ordinance by referendum or constitutional convention.

People Never Voted On It
The Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act, Mr. McCarthy avers, were never properly ratified by the citizens of the state of Illinois and is therefore null and void. Ratification by the state legislature, it was contended, was not sufficient.

SHORT CHANGE ARTIST WAS BUSY IN MENDOTA

On Friday afternoon a short change artist was working among our business houses and it is not known whether he was successful in working his scheme whereby he does confuse the clerks out of a sum of money by making a small purchase and offering a $20 bill, then deciding he had the correct change and then offering a $10 bill, in such a manner that before he left the store the clerk did not know what he had given the fellow.

In a number of instances the fellow was recognized and he was told in no polite terms to leave the place. The fellow generally waits until the proprietor of the store is out and attempts to have a young clerk wait on him—Mendota Reporter.

small set, "KHAH"

"Get Word to A.P."

"Get word to the Associated Press and our families," said the first message received by R. J. Harris, Chicago amateur, "that we are down on a small island 50 miles off Newfoundland, and are safe."

Harris, whose station is 9CEJ, asked the sender who had signed as "The Rockford Flyers," to stand by for ten minutes while he communicated the message to the Associated Press. Harris then returned to his set and later reported receiving the following message:

"Our oil feed failed us and we landed on a small island. We are O.K. and safe, but food low. Using a generator for power for communication. Our position is on a small island about 50 miles off Newfoundland."

"Too Tired to Talk."

After receiving this, Harris said he asked the sender to give him a "schedule" for later in the evening; that is, he asked the sender to set a later hour during which communication would be resumed. In answer to this request this message was received:

"We are very tired and need sleep badly, so can't have a schedule tonight. Will call you tomorrow night 9 p. m., central standard time or 11 p. m., eastern standard time. Please get word to our families. Best regards to all. (Signed) T. E. Rockford Flyers."

Harris said that when he first heard the signals they were "swinging" badly, a condition he compared with "fading" which is familiar to radio set operators listening to distant stations. Very soon, however, the signals became clear and reception thereafter was simple, Harris said.

It was at 12:15 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time, that Harris reported hearing the signals from "KHAH." Joseph E. Williams, a Toledo, O., radio amateur who said he also was in communication with the Greater Rockford, gave the time as 11:30 p. m. to 11:45 p. m., eastern standard time, or approximately half an hour earlier than the Chicago operator. The plane, if it was the plane, said it had been trying all evening to get in touch with someone. Williams said when he first heard it, it was calling 9CEJ, a call which might have been mistaken for Harris' 9CEJ.

Impossible With Their Set

Among the several amateurs and others who doubted that the messages originated from "The Greater Rockford" set was W. N. Hoffman, chief radio operator of the Burgess Fattery Company of Madison, Wis., which installed the set in the plane. Hoffman said it would have been impossible for The Greater Rockford's set to have transmitted on a wave length of 42.8 as both Harris and Williams reported. The plane's equipment, Hoffman said, was so constructed that it could not send on a wave length more than six points removed from 32.4, the wave assigned it.

No Experience In Sending

Don Mix, another operator of the Burgess company, pointed out, as did several persons in Rockford, Ill., home of the flyers, that neither Harris nor Cramer was sufficiently skilled in wireless operation to have sent a lengthy message. That either could have transmitted in the expert manner which both Harris and Williams said was employed in the messages they heard, would be virtually impossible, Mix insisted. It was because of the flyers' lack of radio knowledge, Mix said, that a simple code, consisting of letters of the alphabet, was arranged in advance of the flight. It was the letter "R" heard early Sunday morning that placed the plane as 75 miles off Cape Chidley—several hundred miles from the plane's immediate objective, Mt. Evans, Greenland.

Seen Over Greenland

Contradicting the authenticity of the messages, too, were the apparently reliable reports yesterday from Copenhagen that a plane had been seen and heard over the village of Fiskerhuset in Greenland. The information was sent by the Sheriff there and he said that the inhabitants of the village, as well as of Leichtenfels observed the plane Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Search has been started along the Greenland shore for the flyers who are believed by the Sheriff to have landed somewhere nearby, or possibly a few miles inland if no landing places.

Hear More "R"s

Paint "R"s were picked up again yesterday by Irving Strauss, licensed Chicago operator, the signals being repeated for 10 minutes. It was the same code letter that gave the plane's position as being off Cape Chidley Sunday morning.

Another reason for doubting the "plane" messages today was that the position given off Newfoundland would place the fliers many hundreds of miles south of their course, which was to take them in a straight line from Cochrane, Ont., where they hoped off Saturday at noon, to Mt. Evans, Greenland, a distance of 1600 miles.

SEVEN STOWAWAYS KILLED BY FUMES IN SHIP'S HOLD

Nine Others Overcome and May Die From Acid Burns

Baltimore, Md., August 24—(AP)—Seven stowaways on the steamship Steel Inventor were killed by hydro cyanic acid fumes used in fumigating the ship at quarantine today and nine others were overcome. It was feared four of them would not recover.

The men were thought to be Brazilians but several hours after they had been taken from the hold of the vessel, authorities had not succeeded in identifying any of them.

The ship left Buenos Aires July 25, stopped at Rio Janeiro and sailed from there August 5. Ships officers thought the men had boarded the ship at the Brazilian capital.

Because of yellow fever at the ports she had touched the crew of the Steel Inventor was taken off and the fumigating begun after hatches had been battened down. Soon after pumping the gas began the quarantine officials thought they heard a faint cry from one of the hatches. It was opened and a man was found clinging to a rope in the last stages of consciousness. He gasped that 15 companions were below. A wireless call was sent to shore for aid and when swift boats brought gas helmets, firemen and customs inspectors brought out the other victims.

Six were declared dead, five others did not respond to resuscitation treatment and were sent to hospitals, one dying on the way, and the other five showed signs of recovering.

Newly Wed Jacqueline Charged With Bigamy

Los Angeles, Aug. 24—(AP)—An unwelcome wedding present has been offered Miss Jacqueline Logan, film actress, by the Los Angeles County District Attorney's office.

Hardly had the news of her marriage in Tijuana, Lower California yesterday, to Harry Winston, Los Angeles broker, been received here when Forrest Murray, chief deputy district attorney, declared the actress would face charges of bigamy if she returned here and lived with her new husband.

She obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from Ralph Gillespie here last March, Murray said, which does not become final until March, 1929.

"If Miss Logan and Mr. Winston return to Los Angeles county to reside as man and wife, the district attorney's office will be duty bound to take action against Miss Logan," he said.

was left unlocked when the place closed for business last night.

Pounded Combination Off.

The robbers evidently set to work immediately after entering the office to open the safe, but did not make a first trial at opening the heavy door. Gathering the tools from the property, they knocked the combination off the safe and then swung the door open and ransacked the contents. With the completion of the first check up early this morning and the investigation conducted by Officer Pomeroy, nothing was missing.

Four this Week.

Last night's operations marked the fourth of a series of robberies and safe cracking in Dixon during the week. Early Wednesday morning the safe at the Raymond call office on Brinton avenue, was cracked and a fire started in the building and the C. V. Chapman garage was entered and about $200 worth of valuables including firearms taken.

EVANSTON NEGRO ARRAIGNED FOR MURDER TODAY

Pleads Not Guilty Of Killing Woman Teacher

Chicago, Aug. 24—(AP)—A plea of not guilty was entered by David Shanks, Negro boot-black, when arraigned today for the murder of Miss Jennie Constance, college teacher he confessed slaying in Evanston, a suburb, two weeks ago.

Judge Stanley Klarkowski, acting chief justice of the criminal court, entered the plea and said he would send the case to the next chief justice of the criminal court at the opening of the September term if he assigned for immediate trial.

Shanks, who told police he killed the teacher to rob her, was represented by two Negro attorneys, one of whom was retained by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John White of Evanston. They replaced an attorney who had been appointed by the court.

Shanks was captured and confessed the crime after a wrist watch, stolen from Miss Constance and sold for $1.19, was traced to him. He readily confessed and re-enacted the crime, showing how he had beaten the teacher to death with an iron pipe after way-laying her as she walked home from the Northwestern University library.

LIKE AN OLD CANVAS—
Red houses nestled
Mid the soft green foliage
Of summer.
A quaint wide market place
Old hostleries, and shops,
And streets that seem to hold
The very atmosphere
Which all these river towns
Have woven for themselves
With such success.
An air of peace and happiness,
And tranquil days,
Of having basked long hours
In sunshine.

Near to the river bank.
And to a picturesque old bridge
Of grey stone arches,
Stands the parish church
With sturdy square grey tower,
A charming landmark rising o'er
The stretch of gleaming water
And the country round.

Seen on a summer evening.
Against a blue and gold-flecked sky
The setting suns
As some old canvas,
Sketched and painted by a master hand.

In all the softly vivid color scheme
Of nature—and yet
Hues changing softly all the while.
The golden glow of sunset giving place
To violet tints
And to an army of pale stars,
Pin pricks of light
Caught and reflected.
As the darkness deepens,
By street lights twinkling in the town below.

One cup diced cooked lamb, 1½ cups cooked rice, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 medium sized onions, 1 green pepper, 3 medium sized fresh tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar.

Melt butter, add onions peeled and minced and pepper cut in fine shreds after removing seeds and pith. Cook over a low fire for five minutes and add tomatoes, peeled and chopped. If canned tomatoes are used there should be one and one-half cups. Cook mixture until it thickens, adding sugar with tomatoes. Add salt, pepper, lamb and rice and heat thoroughly, stirring constantly. Serve very hot.

Mrs. Etta Fry read a very interesting article on Temperance, and Mrs. D. C. Leake gave a poem which had impressed her very much in her girlhood days and was much enjoyed by those present.

Mrs. Alice Street gave a pleasing piano number "Curious Story," and also gave an encore.

An article from the Union Signal was read by Miss Carrie Belle Swarts, on Daily Vacation Bible Schools in New Zealand. Mrs. Leake gave the poem, "Be Strong," which was most interesting and helpful. A collection was taken and one new member was added to the Union. Mrs. Dawson closed with prayer. A delicious picnic supper and a social hour followed.

The September meeting will be held after the convention in Amboy.

Annual Trask Bridge Picnic On August 29

Fifty thousand people are expected at this year's annual Trask Bridge picnic next Wednesday, Aug. 29, at the Trask bridge site, 11 miles northwest of Rockford and seven miles northeast of Peconica. It is the 18th annual picnic sponsored by the Burrill grange of Winnebago county.

From 10 a. m. to dark, there will be a program of continual activity, a 75-piece orchestra playing all day. William Lloyd Harding, twice governor of Iowa, now a practicing attorney at Des Moines, Ia., will be the chief speaker. He is a noted orator and lecturer and will give an analysis of present farm problems and current events.

Most interesting of all the day's many events will be the tractor plowing contest when eight or ten tractors will compete in each plowing an acre of new ground. The award this year will be based on the cost of plowing an acre.

Mr. Harding speaks at 1 p. m., and his talk will be followed by song, music, acrobatics, fancy dancing, and sports, including a second baseball game, hog calling, husband and wife calling, bundle tying, log chopping, and hundreds of other events. The tractor contest will begin in the morning and there will be simultaneously a baseball game and a horseshoe pitching contest for the Burrill grange silver trophy.

Seventy models of new cars will be displayed on the grounds by northern Illinois dealers. Many firms will exhibit farm implements and machinery. The grange has prepared a large exhibit of Burrill grown farm produce, canned fruit, flowers and handiwork. All will be shown outdoors, 75 acres being set aside for the picnic grounds. Several dozen barbecues and lunch stands will feed the crowds at noon and night. Last year 535 gallons of ice cream were sold and this year over 800 gallons are ordered.

ENJOY OUTING NEAR "THE PINES"

Misses Leota Prince, Helen Iske, Mary Barnhizer, Mildred Marlow and Lucile Stahler, with Mrs. George Barnhizer as chaperon, are enjoying a week of camping near the Pines, occupying the French cottage.

Edwin Orner And Mary Davis Wed

A wedding of interest to citizens in this vicinity took place in Chicago Thursday, Aug. 16, when Edwin Orner, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Orner of Ashton, and Miss Mary Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis of Rochelle, were married.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Roat. Mr. and Mrs. Orner then departed on a wedding tour of the east, expecting to visit Washington, D. C., New York City and Niagara Falls.

Mr. Orner graduated from the Ashton High School in 1923, and also from Brown's Business College in Sterling. At present he is employed in the accounting department of the Mid-West California Packing Company at Rochelle.

The bride is a graduate of the Rochelle High School with a Class of 1924, and since that time has been employed as a book keeper in the meat market of Binz & Davis.

After their return from the east Mr. and Mrs. Orner will make their home with his parents, north of Ashton.

Eightieth Birthday Day of Happiness

A picnic was enjoyed at "The Pines," State Park Sunday honoring Mrs. Mary Guio's eightieth birthday. At noon a picnic dinner was enjoyed. One of the happiest features of the dinner party was the birthday cake sent from Nebraska, a tempting cake which was as pleasing to the eye as it was to the palate, sent by relatives.

Those present to enjoy the occasion were Mrs. Catherine Phillips of Wymore, Nebraska, Mrs. Jessie Pettitt and son Jack of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Lillian Hayward, Charleston, West Virginia, the Briscoe children of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Strub and children of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. James Mayborn and Miss Rose Guio.

Former Polcans Wed on Saturday

Miss Valda B. Windle and Lowell Plum of Mt. Morris, both former residents of this community, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at half past two o'clock at the home of the bride's parents near Peconica. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. S. Plum of Polo, and uncle of the groom, the single ring ceremony being used in the presence of a group of twenty-five relatives and friends.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe Elizabeth, trimmed with old lace and crystals, her tulle veil being caught to her hair with a pretty ornament. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Windle, who reside near Peconica, is a graduate of Mt. Morris High School. She has been employed in Kable Bros. plant at Mt. Morris.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Plum of Polo and received his education in the rural schools of this community. He attended Mt. Morris High School. He holds a position with the Illinois Northern Utilities Company in Mt. Morris. He and his bride will make that city their home.

HEMSTITCHING USED ON SLEEVELESS DRESS—

Paris—(AP)—Hemstitching has returned with a vengeance for the simple warm-weather frock. It is particularly favored for the sleeveless frock in crepe de chine, voile, linen, wool crepes and thin woolen fabrics. Turkish point which permits curved lines is a favorite variation of plain hemstitching. Many of these dresses are set on a plain round yoke, and this handwork is their only trimming.

RUSSIAN EMBROIDERY TRIMS EFFECTIVE BAG—

Paris—(AP)—Russian embroidery, an important part of the stock in trade of exiled Russians, has been vastly overdone, but has made another attempt at revival. Attractive bags for beach use are made of heavy cream linen and have the cross stitch taken from ancient Russian documents in vivid colored motifs. Two embroidered cords form the handles.

The Boy Scouts, twenty in number, gathered at the E. E. Gilbert home Monday evening to surprise their scoutmaster, Durward Gilbert, on his fourth birthday. The evening was spent in games, stunts and music. Mrs. Gilbert served cookies, candy and a tempting cake, decorated with candles. All enjoyed the evening very much and on departing left Durward many nice gifts, and best wishes for happy returns of the day.

Guiding Your Child

THE ACCIDENTAL CRIME

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne
There is no memory that rankles so long in the heart of a child as the recollection of punishment for crimes he didn't mean to do—things that just happened to him out of a clear sky.

The vase fell. The new suit simply tore itself. And heaven only knows how the glass of milk fell off the table.

The child, intent upon climbing a fence, is oblivious to the perils the procedure holds for his new suit. His clothes, quite rightly, do not occupy his attention. To expect a child to hold in mind such adult values is to deprive him of his own rightful and wholesome interests.

The technique of handling the adult environment is mastered only after repeated explanations and cautions have made plain that such actions as placing a glass of milk too near the elbow, or turning a cartwheel in the vicinity of the mantlepiece, are almost certain to have disastrous results.

When this sort of catastrophe occurs it is well to suppress the natural impulse to scold or punish and to bear in mind that the child's faith in parental justice is more precious than any vase no matter how costly. Kindness and explanation will do more to prevent a recurrence of the mishap than punishment and blame.

Valuable and breakable objects should be placed well out of reach of awkward young arms and legs. The wearing of good clothes should be left for state occasions. Furthermore, the parent's obvious distress over the broken vase, the torn suit, or the spilled milk is enough to make any child not rendered immune by unjust scoldings wish with all his heart it had not happened and make him vow to himself to be very, very careful next time.

ARE EXPECTED HERE FOR VACATION VISIT—

Attorney and Mrs. Edward Henskin and children Bobbie and Jean are expected here this evening to be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mathias of Palmyra avenue, where they will enjoy a vacation visit.

THE FISH DON'T MATTER.

A great many men who go fishing every summer would have a hard time explaining just why they do it. It isn't for the fish exactly; some of the finest moments in a fisherman's career come on afternoons when his hook goes utterly unmolested. Except among the most hardened devotees, the success of a fishing trip depends in no way on the size of the catch.

Herbert Hoover, who took to the California trout streams to get in shape for the presidential campaign, has found the words to explain it.

Fishing, according to Mr. Hoover, is more an escape from a jazz-mad world than any positive enjoyment of angling in itself. Indeed, he believes that as many as seven-eighths of the men who go fishing go to get away from something rather than to get at the fish. It is the only occupation, he says, in which the average busy man can be alone and not be criticized or suspected.

Probably there is a lot to that explanation. The city dweller these days finds life a pretty complex affair. One doesn't have to be a candidate for the presidency to learn that solitude and privacy can be almost unattainable. Modern life is restless, founded on never-ceasing movement.

From the time a man gets up in the morning until he goes to bed at night there is no escaping it. He hurries through his breakfast, races for a trolley or speeds off in his auto to get to the office or shop, works all day at top speed, snatches twenty minutes for lunch, hurries home in the evening—and gets, nowhere, any moments in which he can relax, commune with himself or take stock of his place in the general scheme of things.

It is from that sort of thing that fishing offers a relief. And, obviously, this relief does not in the least depend on the size of the fisherman's catch. The mere atmosphere of the fishing country, with silent woods, lonely streams, quiet dawns and lazy afternoons when the sunlight comes down in wavering patches through rustling leaves to rippled water, is a tonic and a relief. Getting the fish is only a minor part of a man's business there. The real thing is solitude and freedom. A man can rediscover his own personality and build up barriers against the ceaseless assaults of modern city life.

It was remarked, a long time ago, that one must not try to live by bread alone. Too many of us are trying to do it these days. The fisherman knows the remedy. The luckless trout or bass is only an excuse. The real job at hand is idleness and meditation.

"FOREIGN VOTE" TO SPLIT.

How is the so-called "foreign vote" of the United States going to go in the coming presidential election?

There are approximately 7,000,000 naturalized voters in the country. If they all went one way they might easily have a decisive influence on the election. What's going to happen?

The answer, apparently, is that their vote will be split regardless of their nationalities, just like the vote of native-born citizens. The Foreign Language Information Service recently reviewed editorial comment in several hundred foreign-language newspapers printed in this country. It could find no one group that was anything like unanimous for either candidate; and it concludes that "there is not only a lack of unity of opinion between the various racial groups, but each group seems to be split within itself."

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The elephant proved good and strong, and not a single thing went wrong while all the little circus cars moved onward through the night. The Tynmites were nicely fed, and then the whole bunch went to bed and didn't open their eyes until 'twas broad daylight.

Then Scouty raised his little head, looked all around and laudly said, "I think we've reached another town. Let's run outside and see." So up the happy Tynmites hopped, and shortly found the train had stopped. The circus folks were all at work, as busy as could be.

Soon Carpy cried, "I think that we should turn right in and help. Just see how fast they're putting up the tents. We surely overslept." They found the trainer near at hand, and he exclaimed, "That will be grand," when told that they would help him. Then right busy they were kept.

The work was finished pretty soon.

They loafed until the afternoon, and then the crowds began to come to see the wondrous show. Wee Clowny started running 'bout, and you could plainly hear him shout, "Buy tickets for the main tent, folks. That is the place to go."

At last the thrilling show began, and in the tent the Tynmites ran. The trainer yelled to Coppy, "How'd you like to ride a horse? 'I promise you'll be real fun, and you can make him walk or run." Brave Coppy thought a minute, then he answered back, "Of course!"

A spotted horse was trotted out. The Tynmites watched him prance about, and the trainer lifted Coppy right up on his back. "Giddyap," yelled Coppy. "Here we go. Run faster now. You're much too slow." The people in the tent all clapped as he raced 'round the track.

(The Tynmites join the band in the next story.)

The Philosophy Of Henry Ford At 65

W. C. Sibley in his column "Along the Highway" in the Chicago Journal of Commerce, wrote the other day:

After the manner of Edison, Dewey and other sages, Mr. Ford gives out an interview on his birthday. Really he was not only enough to begin that on his sixty-fifth birthday, but four hundred million dollars honestly earned in one lifetime talks very loud in this country.

Mr. Ford expects to do more in the next five years than he has done in the last twenty. There has been no deterioration in the sound elasticity of his ambition. He is still going, and going strong. He has been showing his nation what a man can do with money who knows how to use it for profit while producing a great utility at low cost.

He sets back young men of 50 or under. "You take all the experience and judgment of men over 50 out of the world and there wouldn't be enough left to run it," he declares. No man over 50 will dispute that. We all know how irreparable would be the loss if some modern Herod set out and exterminated all of us who are over 50. We concur in the Ford statement that "the experience and judgment of men over 50 are what give purpose and meaning to younger men's efforts." At the same time it is not to be denied that many men are scattered through history did quite a little before they reached 50—Cleveland, Roosevelt, Taft, Washington and Grant among the presidents; and a great number of famous men in both ancient and modern times. Mohammed founded his great religion before he was 50, and Jesus Christ died before he reached that age. Bryant wrote "Thanatopsis" before he was 20. Alexander Hamilton, one of the greatest of American statesmen, died in his forties.

But the most interesting and suggestive portion of Mr. Ford's birthday remarks have to do with his vast wealth, and what he thinks of it and his conception of the responsibilities our money. The public paid it to us.

The money profits came from the people and we look upon them simply as a public trust which must be put back into the manufacture of something that will help men and women to better and more productive lives. So, it appears, Mr. Ford regards his enormous fortune as belonging to the public which has bought and paid for his cars. Nobody accuses him of overcharging his customers. His profit has been entirely legitimate. He is in business solely to help men and women to better and more productive lives, while all the rest of us are working more or less selfishly, for the benefit of our families and ourselves.

If Mr. Ford's honestly earned fortune is simply a trust for the public so is every other fortune, and we all know exactly where that idea leads. The merchant's profits are a trust he holds from the people. They do not belong to him, nor can he morally leave them to his legal heirs. That, it seems, is the Ford philosophy. It is one held by many who have no property, but so long as Mr. Ford holds tight to his legal possessions, the business world need not be alarmed.

Migraine Headache

By L. W. Kohn, M.D., New York City
Member Gorgas Memorial

This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Gorgas Memorial, which has its headquarters at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Some people suffer frequently from so-called Migraine. It is often called Blind or Nervous headache. Women are especially afflicted with this condition and usually in early adult life. It is a very troublesome affliction and is not so easily conquered.

This disease is believed to be inherited in many instances and may be traced directly through several generations of the same family. At times, it is found in several members of a family.

Many forms of headache manifest themselves at times but the cause may often be traced to a disease elsewhere, such as congestion of the liver, constipation, menstrual disorders, diseases of the nose, sinuses, and teeth, and kidney disturbances. When it occurs quite regularly and often without a recognizable cause for its production it is regarded as a migraine. It is a very distressing condition but does not as a rule endanger the life of the individual. As the person grows older, the attacks gradually disappear.

The attacks of so-called migraine are usually characterized by a one-sided headache accompanied by

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 Question: Mrs. W. L. asks: "Will you explain what is meant by 'epithelial' cells found in an analysis of a sample of urine? There was found no sugar or albumen, but these cells were present. Should a person have a further examination made to avoid further trouble later on?"

Answer: Epithelial cells appearing in the urine might show a mild form of cystitis, providing there are no other important findings in the urinalysis. These cells are microscopic, and under the microscope look similar to those thrown off by the scalp and called dandruff. Their presence in the urine does not indicate any serious trouble.

Question: J. K. writes: "I would like to know how much orange juice a baby nine months old should take. What time of the day should I give it—before or after meals?"

Answer: A baby nine months old should not be eating "meals," but should be taking only orange juice and milk. A good schedule is to make the feedings four hours apart, using about eight ounces of milk each time, and preceding the milk feedings by one or two teaspoonfuls of straight orange juice which has not been diluted. If the baby is inclined to be constipated, it is all right to give him orange juice between feedings, using one or two teaspoonfuls at a time and increasing the amount as it seems necessary. If you care to write to me in care of this paper inclosing a large stamped, self-addressed envelope, I will be glad to send you without any charge my article on "Weaning the Baby."

Question: Mrs. A. L. A. asks:

"What would cause a ranula, and is it something permanent or will it go away eventually? If so, is an operation advisable, or would it be dangerous?"

Answer: A ranula is a cystic tumor beneath the tongue due to the obstruction and dilation of the sublingual or submaxillary gland or of a mucous gland. It may go away by itself, but an operation is sometimes advisable.

MISS ANASTASIA FAMOUS BABY, IS BACK IN COURT

But This Time It's For Birthday Party With The Judge

Cleveland, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Miss Anastasia Smith, one year old, might have had a good laugh for herself today had she been able to look back and comprehend all the trouble she caused twelve months ago when the famous Smith baby case at Fairview Park Hospital attracted national attention to her.

All dolled up in a new white dress and a new pair of shoes Miss Anastasia arrived in the courtroom of common pleas Judge Carl V. Weygandt, she gave the Judge a knowing glance as though she had seen him somewhere before. Somehow the surroundings of the court room seemed familiar.

And then Miss Anastasia would have remembered all about it had she been able. A year ago she was born in Fairview Park Hospital. Her mother called her "little son" and even the nurses noted in the hospital record that she was a boy. Then all of a sudden she became a girl.

She Was Unpopular. The discovery just about ostracized her from the family of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, into which she had been born. In fact Mrs. Smith insisted that she was not her child at all. A mistake had been made, the grief-stricken mother protested; the nurses had mixed the babies; some one had her boy; and she had somebody else's girl.

At the wee age of three weeks she was haled into a court room. Upon the bench sat the fatherly judge who listened to the whole story earnestly.

"And now," said Judge Weygandt to Mrs. Smith when he had heard it all, "there is scarcely any doubt that the mistake was made in the hospital record and not in the mixing of babies. The nurse who registered your child called her a boy. But all the evidence shows that she was a girl. Take her home and be good to her."

It was the same fatherly judge sitting upon the bench Miss Anastasia might have reflected when she entered the court room for the second time yesterday.

Birthday Present. It was quite a surprise to be back—a birthday surprise. Judge Weygandt just wanted to give her a little party on his first honorable occasion since he is her official Godfather. While the cameras clicked he presented her with a little blue book showing a bank deposit of $10 in her name.

Sam Smith, the proud parent pulled Judge Weygandt aside and whispered: "We know you were right. Anastasia was our baby all the time. Doesn't she look like her mother?"

NO STUMPING FOR AL WHEN HE HAS RADIO

To Avoid Open Air Talks in Swing Around Country

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

New York, Aug. 24—(AP)—There will be no open air campaigning for Gov. Smith, if he can help it. The radio has too much appeal for him.

The idea is being impressed upon the Democratic presidential nominee constantly by his political associates, although he personally is known to have felt for some time the futility of conducting an extensive outdoor speech-making tour when such modern means as the radio, with its voice-saving qualities, is available.

The Governor has had considerable experience with the old custom of literally taking the stump and extending the voice in an effort to reach the fringe of the crowd. He has campaigned five times for governor and many more times in lesser political roles.

Whether the Democratic nominee adheres strictly to an indoor speaking program, of course, depends upon the availability of broadcasting facilities.

May Make Big Swing

In covering his itinerary about the country, and there is growing evidence that it will be a real swing. Gov. Smith, of course, will appear on the rear platform of his train at intervals, shake hands, and probably say a few words, but wherever a radio hookup can be obtained which will cover the territory he thinks should be covered, it is generally believed among those close to him that he will take advantage of that method.

No Talk Tomorrow

Gov. Smith turned thumbs down on an invitation that he make a speech to the great outdoor crowd which is expected to turn out for Democratic rally at Seagirt, N. J., tomorrow night.

The Governor probably will attend, but he will make no speech. He also expects to review the state national guard regiments now in encampment at that place.

The Governor had an engagement today at Democratic national headquarters, where he expected to see, among others, former Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, and Justice Warcell, of San Francisco, who managed his pre-convention campaign in California.

Campaign plans are in the making and these undoubtedly were on the program.

God is Love, and Love knows no hate or displeasure, condemns not, nor punishes the children of His good pleasure, but holds men ever safely in His everlasting arms. Control is the secret in putting up fruit

THIS trade-mark stands for coffee such as you have never tasted before. Not only the perfect blend of the world's finest coffees, but the achievement of Hills Bros.' exclusive process which roasts a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk.

Controlled Roasting produces this perfect coffee. Coffee that abounds in aroma, flavor and invigorating strength. Coffee that never varies in goodness . . . that completely satisfies your coffee hunger every time you drink it.

This satisfying goodness produced by Controlled Roasting comes to you in vacuum tins. It was Hills Bros. who first used this method of packing coffee. As you open a can of Hills Bros. Coffee by turning the key, a most entrancing fragrance comes to you. It tells you

BELLE IS OUT ON MAN HUNT— WANTS HUSBAND

Famous Foundling Says She Will
"Get Her Man"

Chicago, August 23.—(AP)—Belle Livingston who was found beneath a huge sunflower plant years ago in the back yard of John R. Graham, then the Mayor of Emporia, Kansas, is here today seeking her fifth husband. And she declares she will go to California or China to "get her man," if she can't find him here.

Belle was adopted by Mr. Graham and was educated in a convent at Oldenburg, Ind., until she ran away to become a musical comedy trouper. There she met her first husband, Richard Waring of Chicago. A divorce a year later and a settlement for $150,000 afforded her a trip to Europe where she coined the phrase "spend it while you have it."

With her finances gone she accepted the stipulations of a wager that she could go around the world with $25 as her stake. She won $25,000 and Count Lafassi, who became her husband. He died.

Then she wrote her autobiography, "The belle of Bohemia" and subsequently met Edward Mohler, who was then a leading stockholder in the Nickel Plate Railroad. Edward Mohler, Jr., of Cleveland, was born and he is now prominent in the affairs of that city, Mrs. Livingston said.

Fired Last Husband
Belle and Mohler separated in 1912 and Col. Walter James Hutchins of Woolch Arsenal, London, married her the following year. "I lived with the Colonel fourteen years," she told interviewers. "But when he wanted to settle down and I wanted to keep on living I told him he was discharged. He doesn't want to divorce me until I find a new husband," she added.

Woman Shoots Bandit Attempting Holdup

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Unafraid of a highway robber's pistol, Mrs. Nathan Lipman of Los Angeles saved herself and her husband from robbery today when she drew a gun and shot the robber who was trying to stage a hold up.

Mr. and Mrs. Lipman were enroute to Chicago, motoring along the state road west of here today when three men in another car drove alongside while one of them leaped on the Lipman car and drew a pistol. He climbed into the rear seat of the Lipman car, they told police, and ordered Mr. Lipman to turn down a side road.

Lipman refused and the robber fired, the bullet grazing his ear. Mrs.

Lipman in the meantime secretly removed a pistol from behind the seat and fired at the robber, striking him in the side. He opened the door and tumbled out but not until blood had spattered over Mr. Lipman.

The tourists drove on into Joliet and reported the attempted robbery. Mr. Lipman displayed his ear, burned from the powder from the robber's gun and thanks his wife's quick wit and nerve for saving them from the holdup.

The wounded robber apparently was picked up by his companions while the Lipman's sped on into Joliet. No trace of them was found by authorities who went in search.

It is proposed in Italy to have the government control the naming of infants.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT M. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pirate met Giant in a double-header at Pittsburgh yesterday and the only beneficiaries were the St. Louis Cardinals.

While John McGraw's New York Giants were breaking even in a dual bill with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Cardinals, without going near a ball park, returned to the lead in the national league pennant championship which seems certain to make baseball history before it's all over.

The even break cost the Giants two precious percentage points, enough to give the Cardinals the lead by a fraction of one point.

The standing today:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	71	48	.59694
New York	68	46	.59649

McGraw started out the day right at Pittsburgh when Larry Benton, aided and abetted by one John Scott, pitched the Giants to a 6 to 3 win in the first engagement. In the second, however, the corsairs, themselves afflicted with a pennant mania, unleashed a terrific batting offensive that swept the New Yorkers into a dismal 13 to 3 defeat.

The Cincinnati Reds, taking two from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 2 to 0 and 6 to 1, leaped over the idle Cubs into third place and served notice that they are not yet to be counted out of the race. The Reds trail the leaders by only three and a half games and in turn, they lead the Cubs by only half a game and the fifth place pirates by two.

The Philadelphia Athletics, beating Cleveland 3 to 1, slipped up to within four and a half games of the Amer-

WILL FIGHT TONIGHT

Chicago, Aug. 24—(AP)—If the weather is favorable for an out-door show at Mills Stadium tonight, Billy Petrolle of Fargo, N. D., and Jack Berg of England will again try to decide which shall challenge Sammy Mandell for his lightweight boxing title. The bout, billed for ten rounds to a decision, was postponed from yesterday until tonight because of rain. Both fighters remained in light training.

Russ Heis, Columbus, defeated Harry Miller, McKeesport, Pa., (3); Paul Aanzo, Marietta, won from Herman Paugh, Parkersburg, W. Va., (6).

Fifteen Year Old Girl Golf Champ

Chicago, Aug. 24—(AP)—A fifteen year old Chicago girl, Rena Nelson, who had never played in a championship tournament before, is the 1928 western women's junior golf champion.

Strutting like a veteran over rain-soaked course at the South Shore Country Club yesterday, she defeated June Beebe, another Chicago girl, 7 and 6. In doing so, she scored a 41 and clinched the title with two par holes on the inward journey.

TRY "BIG BILL" TODAY

New York, Aug. 24—(AP)—It's trial day for "Big Bill" Tilden, center of many a tennis controversy in the past.

The thirty members of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association meet at the hotel Vanderbilt at 8:30 tonight to decide whether "Big Bill" has violated the amateur player-writer rule and, if so, what punishment he deserves.

Tilden himself will not be there. He has made his defense in writing but "business" prevents a personal appearance.

TAKES ANOTHER VET'S PLACE
